

WorkMate AI — Leave Policy

Page 1 of 5

Purpose: This fictional WorkMate policy defines how employees request and manage leave.

Scope: Applies to all fictional WorkMate employees in this project.

Leave categories: Casual Leave (CL), Sick Leave (SL), and approved special leave.

Casual leave is intended for short personal needs. Sick leave is intended for illness or medical recovery.

Employees should check their available balance before submitting a planned request.

WorkMate AI — Leave Eligibility and Balances

For this project, eligible employees receive leave balances according to their employment records.

Leave balances shown by the employee system are the source for employee-specific balance questions.

Unused leave may be carried forward only where the applicable company rule permits it.

Employees should not assume that an unavailable leave category is automatically approved.

Questions about an individual balance should be handled using the employee leave system rather than general policy text.

Employees should submit planned leave through the approved internal leave/request process.

A request should include the leave type, start date, end date, and a short reason when required.

Planned leave should be submitted before the absence whenever reasonably possible.

Employees should wait for the appropriate approval before treating planned leave as approved.

For urgent or unexpected absence, the employee should notify the reporting manager or HR as soon as practical.

WorkMate AI — Approval and Unplanned Leave

Approval depends on the employee's reporting process and operational requirements.

A leave request being submitted does not by itself mean that the request has been approved.

For sudden illness, employees should notify the manager/HR promptly and update the formal request when able.

Repeated or unusual leave patterns may require HR review under fictional company procedures.

If the employee cannot access the leave system, an HR request may be created for assistance.
